

Process line

A complete range of services for upstream & downstream technologies

Process lines fully developed by our teams, when a “good start”, with early involvement of your technology specialist, makes the difference.

Process line

A complete range of services for upstream & downstream technologies

Our different liquid separation technologies are often combined for complex tasks of purification. Through strong partnerships with other technology leaders, Applexion can develop and supply production process lines to perfectly match your objectives.

YOUR EXPERIENCE

For complex projects, that we typically encounter in process development or new process lines cases, a multi-step approach is often deployed. Applexion has developed its “good start initiative” thanks to decades of experience and customer feedbacks.

1. Discovery: an attractive business case + concept studies
2. Early definition: a secured business case + a basic engineering studies
3. Design: your project on the GO + pre-engineering studies
4. Build: execution studies

applexion.com

follow us 